What to Know...

1) This library provides subject guides to life sciences, medicine, dentistry, nursing, public health and history of the sciences.

2) Ability to schedule one-on-one meetings with research consultants and science librarians.

3) Study spaces like collaboration pods, group study rooms, classrooms and laptop lending.

4) Find Special Collections for Medicine and Sciences on the fourth floor of the Biomedical Library.

5) Access nearly 700,000 print volumes featuring subjects like health and life sciences, psychology, etc.